

India Direct Services

For nearly 50 years, Westchester was known for top-quality, US-managed editorial and composition services, with many of the world's most recognised publishers as its clients, including Bloomsbury, Macmillan, Mary Ann Liebert, Harvard University Press, and UCL Press.

Then in 2014, leveraging our expertise in the publishing services space and our wholly-owned, India-based production operation, Westchester launched its India Direct service line from its Chennai operation.

Later, in early 2016, Westchester further expanded its presence in India, commencing full-service operations from its New Delhi office.

Our staff include composition experts for all platforms, talented engineers, coders, and artists. We also have project managers with decades of publishing experience along with copyeditors, proofreaders, and indexers who have experience working for numerous major publishers, including Cengage, McGraw-Hill, OUP, as well as other full-service vendors.

“ Bloomsbury has been using Westchester Publishing Services for trade typesetting for over a decade—not just because the service is excellent but because the company has been willing to invest and flex to support our evolving XML-based workflows.”

—Louise Cameron, Group Production Director, Bloomsbury Publishing

“ Lion Hudson has partnered with Westchester on a content repurposing programme for our new Lion Scholar imprint and I have been extremely impressed by Westchester's professionalism and high-quality services. Working with their UK, US, and India-based senior managers on the workflow at the initiation of the projects has been fluid and productive... We also use Westchester's India-based proofreading and indexing services, which are also of a high standard.”

—Lyn Roberts, Senior Managing Editor, Lion Hudson

“ We recently had Westchester India handle the Wonderful World 2E Lesson Planner adaptations and to say these were messy and complicated is underselling the challenges these presented... Westchester India were excellent and able to meet program expectations, as well as schedule and budget requirements.”

—Michael Burggren, Sr. Director, Production, National Geographic Learning
